In April of 2014, I took a class from Kim Diehl through PALS and created BITTERSWEET. The brown and green fabrics are cotton with the colorful appliqué pieces all being wool. It took me over 300 hours to complete.

This image of the nativity scene was on the cover of a bulletin one Christmas. I had it enlarged and then the search was on for just the right fabrics. THANKS, Barb and Marcia (guild members) for gifting me with some of those fabrics. My husband built a frame. We wrapped the edges around the frame and stapled them to the back side.

I made this scrappy quilt to fit a queen size bed but then had to enlarge it for a new king size mattress which was easy to do by rotating it 90* and adding borders. It has over 2000 pieces in it.
